Mysore Race Course likely to be SHIFTED

- Tourism Minister S.R. Mahesh says Mysore Race Course (MRC) will be re-located to city outskirts.
- To co-ordinate with PWD to transfer that land for Zoo which comes under Forest Ministry to improve tourism.

A view of the sprawling Mysore Race Course.

Mysuru, June 13 (MTY&BCT)- The Mysore Race Course (MRC) will be closed and shifted to a spacious land that will be beyond 25 kilometres from the city limits, said the newly-appointed Minister for Tourism and Sericulture S.R. Mahesh.

He was addressing a press conference at the Central Sericulture Research and Training Institute on Manandawadi Road in city this morning after visiting the Suttur Mutt and seeking the blessings of Suttur Seer Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji.

The Minister said that the licence of MRC will not be renewed at any cost. "The State Government will not renew the licence and the MRC property will be taken over by the Government where a Botanical Garden and a Bird Park will come up. We will not allow racing activities within the city limits and instead utilise the space to promote Mysuru as a tourist hub," the Minister said.

Detailing out his plans on the MRC, the Minister said that he will visit the MRC today at 3 pm to discuss the issue with MRC Chairman and Secretary. "I will go there to discuss the holding of International Yoga Day event at MRC lawns like last year on June 21 and will discuss the issue of the club closure and shifting," he said. The 139 acres of land was leased to the MRC by the Public Works Department (PWD) in 1976.

When the reporters questioned about the MRC authorities going to the Court against the shifting move, Mahesh said that the government will convince the MRC authorities to let go of the land. "The land belongs to the PWD that is looked after by Minister H.D. Revanna. I will discuss the issue with Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy and Revanna and take the issue to a logical end. The MRC cannot claim the land as their own and must vacate it for larger benefits of the public," he said.

Food as business Business as food

Portrayed as a predominantly agrarian country for long, India has lately been transformed into a global industrial power, considering its leading position in the production of steel, cement, textiles, pharmaceuticals, automobiles and many other manufacturing sectors, not to forget the land's advances in computer software and space-related achievements, particularly production and launching of satellites including offer of facilities and services to many other countries. Even as the country is witnessing investment of capital on an unprecedented scale by the world's established companies abroad being tempted by the factor of ease of doing business (as declared by the incumbent government at the Centre and also some State governments including Karnataka) the nation's economically sustaining power lies in its agriculture, also declared as an industry a few years ago. The profile of players in the world of business drawing their strength from the major elements of technology as well as skill-set is in a different class compared to the players in the agriculture sector, most of them not entering the portals of schools and colleges.

While agriculture in the land is virtually marked by traditional practices alongside the sweat and toil of the plough-wielding human resources, their business acumen is yet to blossom. The enormous gains of enterprises in the business world newly entering the food sector are apparently tempting the rustics to move away from their fields to the strange world of industry-based business.

Business involving manufactured products, including fast-moving consumer goods, has its many distinct features, particularly organisations such as Chambers of Commerce and Industry as well as robust financial support from the banking sector in contrast to the largely unorganised agriculture sector in the land. The staying power of the players in the world of business in the face of shocks resulting from losses due to various reasons also contrasts with the plight of the farming community who cannot survive in the face of losses resulting from natural causes like monsoon failure. The biggest handicap bugging agriculture is the unviable asset of land at their command. Even glut of agro-produce such as the recent cases of mango, onion and tomato has proved to be the spoil-sport of agriculture in the country.

Food-based business featuring mobile food joints in urban spaces (50,000 in Kolkata) is perhaps an exclusive example of food as successful business. There are as many examples of business featuring manufactured goods bringing food to the doors of the entrepreneurs as one can visualise. In sum, food business has remained a hard nut to crack in India despite the market for food not matched by any other commodity.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

All over the world migrants are generally looked upon with wariness, if not hostility, by the native population, which sees them as a threat, with regard to jobs and for changing the social, cultural and political demographics of the host country. However, all of us, wherever we currently are, have come from somewhere else; we are all migrants, or descendants of migrants. Biologists say the human race began in Africa, so we all originally came from that continent, long before the advent of national borders and passport control. Further, astrophysicists say life originated on Earth after a spore-bearing asteroid from outer space collided with our planet. So, as the song goes, we are all stardust, migrants who could trace our ancestry back to ancient roots which are literally out of this world. — Jug Suraiya in The Times of India.

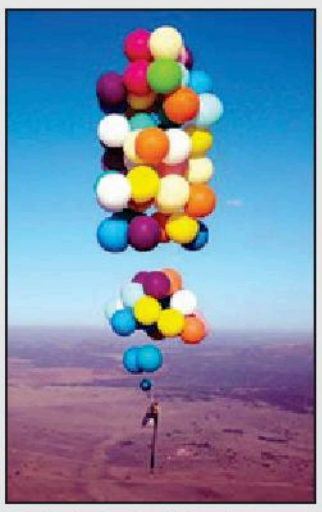
Trash-Collecting Samurai of Japan

Tokyo: Even in a generally clean country like Japan,littering is a big problem, especially during popular festivals, so the trash-collecting samurai take it upon themselves to rid the streets of trash and entertain people at the same time. They scour the streets dressed in period clothes and wielding katanas and garbage tongs, with traditional garbage baskets strapped to their backs. And when they spot a piece of trash, they yell things like "who goes there" and adopt a battle stance. Spoiler alert – they always win their duels.

So if you're ever in Tokyo and happen to see a group of cool looking samurai wielding garbage picking tools and yelling threats, don't run for your life. Just site back and enjoy the show, it's not something you get to see every day.

Guy tied to 100 helium balloons flies 8,000 ft.high



Bristol: An English adventurer recently got to experience by flying 8,000 feet above ground while tied to colorful party balloons filled with helium.

Strapped to a lawn chair under 100 balloons and surrounded by safety supplies, Morgan took flight. He rose slowly at first but began to accelerate very quickly as he reached the inversion layer of the atmosphere.

Morgan reached a height of 8,000ft and traveled 25km in his two-hour flight. He described the experience as "unbelievably cool", and also admitted that he felt "somewhere between terrified and elated" as the chair rose into the air.

Narayana Hospital to treat gastrointestinal bleed

Mysuru, June 13 (KS)- Narayana Multispecialty Hospital has emerged as a centre of excellence for treating gastrointestinal (GI) Bleeds. It is not uncommon for us to hear of someone having vomited blood in massive volumes. Such incidents are medical emergency cases, as more the blood loss, closer the patient gets to danger.

Addressing a press conference in city recently, Dr. A.K. Satheesh Rao, Chief Gastroenterologist said that such vomit normally takes place in people who are hypertensive, and who suffer particularly from one form of high blood pressure known as portal hypertension and the patient must promptly be taken to the nearest hospital which has a reputed emergency management unit.

Camera-fitted endoscope exam normally reveals the site of bleed, and as soon as the site is known measures are taken to control it. Earlier treatment included using glue on the bleed to stop it from flowing out, but there were reports of re-bleed as the glue would come off.

With an emergent new technology camera-guided endoscopic ultrasound, one can see the exact site of bleed and the same is stopped by coiling a metal-looking ring made of Platinum. This stops the bleeding instantly and over a period closes the opening.

Heavy rain in Kodagu severs Road link to Kerala

Heavy rain in Virajpet Taluk of Kodagu District has blocked the Kerala-Karnataka link via Virajpet at Makutta. The Makutta River is overflowing and has brought widespread destruction. Picture right shows the Forest check post at Makutta that has been closed for vehicular traffic.

Madikeri, June 13 (PS&BCT)- Even as massive landslides leading to huge traffic pileups were reported in the Charmadi Ghats and coastal regions in Karnataka as the monsoon fury continued unabated yesterday, rivers and rivulets continue to overflow, blocking several roads in Kodagu.

Trees have been uprooted at many places, cutting off power lines and roads have caved-in blocking the smooth passage of vehicles. Landslides too have been reported in several places. The link between Kerala and Karnataka via Virajpet has been blocked as Makutta River is overflowing, causing widespread destruction.

Though the early entry of monsoon and widespread rain has brought smiles on the faces of farmers, the standing crops including that of coffee, ginger, and arecanut were badly affected due to continuous flood water flowing in hundreds of hectares of land in Kodagu.

Somwarpet and Virajpet Taluks have been receiving heavy rainfall and as some main roads were blocked, the Kodagu District Administration has declared a holiday for schools today. However, colleges will be open.

Among the places that received maximum rainfall yesterday were Balele, Kottageri, Nittoor, Kanoor, Ponnampet, T. Shettigeri, Kutta and surrounding areas. The Lakshmanatheertha River is in full spate and the river has blocked several roads. As water flowed forcefully, several fields where roads have been built caved-in at Kottageri. Even concrete roads have not withstood the water flow.

This morning, while the Harihara-T. Shettigeri Bridge was overflowing, Ponnampet-Nadikeri-Kutta road was blocked as one truck and a private bus veered off the road and stood in 'V' shape, blocking the way.

Kerala link cut

The crucial link between Kodagu and Kerala via Virajpet has been severed as the Makutta River is overflowing and at many places, there is no difference between a road and a bridge. According to residents, though there is a break in the rain, water gushing from the thick forest and hilly areas is causing extensive damage. Landslides too have been reported on the stretch and several roads too have caved in.

Along with mud and other residues, the water current is carrying fallen trees and dried wood along with it and water has entered all those houses that have been built by the side of the Makutta Road. Many travellers from Kerala towards Virajpet and from Virajpet to Kerala are stranded and as Virajpet is a commercial hub, most of the goods and vegetables come from Kerala. All the supplies have now been disrupted.

Rehabilitation centre

At Karadigodu and Nellihudikeri near Siddapur, the River Cauvery is flowing in full spate and those living on the banks of the river have been asked to move to a food and rehabilitation centre (Ganji Kendra) set up at Karadigodu Government Primary School. Over 173 families have been provided temporary shelter at the Ganji Kendra.

The Balamuri mini bridge has been submerged and the Cauvery water level is continuously rising in Bethri, Mutharmudi and Kadanoor. It requires just a foot or two for River Cauvery to submerge the Bethri Bridge.

Rainfall data

As on this morning (June 13), Madikeri Taluk has received 102.55 mm in the last 24 hours, Virajpet Taluk 176.32 mm while Somwarpet received 29.08 mm rainfall. The District average is 102.65 mm.

Madikeri town received 41.80 mm, Napoklu 194.40 mm, Sampaje 42.60 mm, Bhagamandala 131.40, Virajpet 83.20 mm, Hudikeri 318.50 mm, Srimangala 320.00 mm, Ponnampet 225.20 mm, Ammathi 52.00 mm, Balele 59.00 mm, Somwarpet 3.20 mm, Shanivarsanthe 19.40 mm, Shanthalli 85.00 mm, Kodlipet 25.20 mm, Kushalnagar 2.40 mm and Suntikoppa received 12.30 mm.

Charmadi Ghat closed for vehicular traffic for 2 days

The Police, with the help of local villagers and earth-movers yesterday made way for the serpentine traffic piled up in 16-km Charmadi Ghat on National Highway 75.

As many as 210 vehicles, mostly large vehicles, buses and four wheelers, 150 two-wheelers and 1,500 people stranded due to the landslide had a harrowing time.

The ghat section will be closed for two days for vehicular movement. All the vehicles are diverted via Sampaje-Madikeri or Naravi-Bajegoli-Mudigere-Belur route. If landslide still continues, Charmadi Ghat may be blocked for some more days.

The newly-constructed stretch between Makutta and Virajpet was washed away due heavy rain yesterday. The water is carrying fallen trees and branches along with it. (Right image) The Ponnampet-Nadikeri-Kutta Road was blocked this morning as a lorry and a private bus veered off the road and stood in 'V' shape, blocking the way.

VOICE OF THE READER

Some thoughts on traffic accidents

Sir,

The recent deaths of at least 23 children and many others in a school bus crash in Kangra, Himachal Pradesh, death of 18 labourers in a lorry accident in Maharashtra and 9 in a truck mishap at Utttar Pradesh must shear the conscience of the nation.

The Supreme Court constituted a Committee of Road Safety in 2014 and it was headed by former Supreme Court Judge Justice K.S. Radhakrishnan to 'monitor' on behalf of the court for implementing various laws relating to road safety in each State. In a scathing observation, it cracked down on lacklustre efforts made by the States and Union Territories and directed them put offenders in jail or suspend their driving licences starting from Sept. 1, 2015:

'In a detailed analysis of the traffic accidents and fatalities, it has come to the conclusion that unless strong and urgent measures are taken to deal with over-speeding, drunken driving and red light jumping, violation of helmet laws and seat belt laws, use of mobile phones in driving and overloading, the number of accidents and fatalities will continue to remain high.'

However, it appears that there is no indication of reduction in road accidents which continue to soar and now stands at 1.5 lakh annually which at 12 percent is highest for India compared to world fatalities.

Earlier, the Office of the City Police Commissioner used to publish periodically details of number of accidents and no such report has been reported in the local papers in recent times. In my report compiled in 2002 as a Convener of Working Group on Roads and Traffic, along with detailed report recommendation for strengthening Police infrastructure which interalia required increase in the number of Police personnel and creation of more Police Stations etc., were touched upon. It is felt with the growth of vehicular population, the Police infrastructure has not kept pace. This will seriously come in the way of implementation of traffic control measures.

We as citizens have to live up to our responsibility. Despite introduction of helmet rule people continue to flout it. No doubt Police making sudden surprise check has been the order of the day but it is a severe indictment of the citizens who continue to flout despite warning from the Police. But the Police have been lax in checking overloading.

During my morning walk towards Manasagangothri on Bogadi Road, I see Maruti Omni carrying more than 20 people! I shudder to think what happens when some reckless truck loses control and hits them. Wonder how far the Police can spread out to check this menace. These are the few thoughts that struck me as relevant so that self regulatory order can prevail at all levels for precious lives lost is both personal and national loss.

In this week's Pet Talk, Maneka speaks about parrot lice, horse shoe and lifespan of a pet rabbit.

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

What do I need to know about parrot lice?

Lice are one of the most common parasites found on pet birds like parrots. Often an infestation is not visible until the bird is in severe discomfort. Still, some birds show no visible signs of infestation. Some lice will bury themselves into the skin of a bird, and live off the host's blood, while other forms of lice will feed on feathers and dead skin. Monitor birds for restlessness, increased pruning, and agitation. These are signs that there could be a lice infestation. Because lice are extremely hard to see, use a magnifying glass and visibly inspect the bird. Look for elongated, dark brown insects on the bird's feathers. The lice will be about 3 mm long when fully grown and do not have wings.

Remove all material used for nesting from the bird's cage. Thoroughly clean the bird cage and toys with a bleach-and-water solution, if a visit to the vet is not immediately possible. Boil toys and perches in water and allow to air-dry prior to placing back in the cage. The vet may prescribe or recommend a strong cleaning solution. Clean the surrounding cage area, as lice may be on a nearby table top or window sill. Disinfect all areas to avoid re-infestation.

Treat the bird with the proper insecticide approved by the vet. Always check with a vet to ensure treatment is safe, as the substances used to kill lice are highly toxic. Common treatment includes use of dusting powder and sprays on the bird and cage. Avoid contact of insecticide with the bird's eyes and any mucous areas. Misuse of lice control treatments can cause your bird severe pain and even death. Observe your bird for signs of lice returning.

How to give emergency first-aid for a loose horse shoe?

If your horse's shoe is only a tiny bit loose you can leave it on, binding it with self-adhesive or duct tape until the farrier can get there. But if it's very loose it needs to be removed. Not doing so means the horse can hurt itself by stepping on the shoe with another hoof, ripping the shoe off even more and leaving a sharp metal object, full of sharp toe clips and nails, flapping around under its hoof. Some horses may end up chipping and breaking the hoof wall if the shoe rips off accidentally. Loose shoes are best removed as soon as they are noticed.

The first step is to remove the clinches. These are the ends of the nails that are bent over when the shoe was applied. You'll see the clinches as shiny squares on the outside wall of the hoof. With the rasp, file down the clinches until they're flush with the hoof wall. This is done by sliding the rasp back and forth over the top of each clinch until they're thin enough that they can be snipped or broken off easily. If you file from the top, you may not need to snip them. After you've gotten rid of the clinches, you can start prying off the shoe. Pick up your horse's foot as you would for cleaning. Use the clippers to pry between the hoof wall and the heel of the shoe. Keep working the clippers further towards the toe of the shoe, lifting the shoe away from the hoof. Be careful not to put any leverage against the sole of the foot as that might make your horse uncomfortable.

Also, to avoid leaving big nail holes that may cause chipping, try to pull the shoe straight off and not wiggle it side to side. Place the edge of the cutter underneath the bottom-most edge of clinch and use the hammer to tap and pry the end of the clinch up. With the clinches lifted away from the hoof wall, you'll be able to clip the ends of the clinches flush with the hoof. Be careful as you work.

The clinches, as they stand away from the hoof, are quite sharp, and if the horse suddenly pulls its hoof away from you, could cause injury. Make sure all the nails are pulled out of the hoof too. You don't want any to work their way into the hoof and cause damage. After you've removed the shoe, you may have to protect the hoof, especially if you're not removing the shoes and leaving them off to let your horse go barefoot. Protecting the hoof may help prevent chips and splits until the farrier can get there to replace the shoe. You can try wrapping the hoof thickly in duct tape or self-adhesive tape. If you plan to leave the shoes off, your horse may need to have its hooves trimmed to maintain the proper angles and prevent the hoof wall from splitting and chipping.

How often does a horse's shoes need to be reset or re-shod?

Shod horses need to be re-shod every four to six weeks, irrespective of whether they have worn the shoes out or not. The hooves grow continuously and, when shod, the hoof cannot wear down as it can with an unshod horse. Six weeks is a general guideline for good hoof health. Some horses may need to be reset sooner, and some longer. Don't leave shoes on for months. This can damage the hoof, and overgrown hooves can lead to soft tissue damage like strained tendons and ligaments. So, make sure you have a regular appointment with your farrier so that your horse does not go too long between shoeing.

How long do pet rabbits live?

On an average, domestic rabbits usually have a lifespan of 8-12 years. But in some cases, with proper care, rabbits can even live longer to see their teenage years. Oldest known pet rabbit has been documented to have lived for 18 years.

The lifespan of a pet rabbit depends on:

Diet: A quality high fibre diet full of leafy vegetables, hay, fruits and a constant supply of fresh water, can help the rabbit live a healthy life.

Space: Rabbits need a spacious environment to move around and also need regular exercise.

Temperature: Hot temperature should be avoided as rabbits are very sensitive to it.

Spaying/ neutering: Spaying and neutering can also increase life expectancy, as females are at high risk for uterine and mammary cancer.

Veterinary care: Take your rabbit to a vet familiar with handling rabbits as soon as you get it and return for yearly check-ups.

Sharing is Caring!

Like charity begins at home, sharing too begins at home. These primates seem to understand this very well and the family head — Mother — shares a Thotapuri mango as other members of the family wait patiently for their turn as they are very sure of getting a bite or two. This family moment was captured by SOM photographer M.N. Lakshminarayana Yadav at Bandipur recently.

Marithibbegowda of JD(S) records fourth successive victory in MLC polls

Mysuru, June 13- JD(S) candidate and Legislative Council Deputy Chairman Marithibbegowda recorded his fourth consecutive victory by winning the biennial election from the South Teachers Constituency.

The election to the South Teachers Constituency, comprising four districts — Mysuru, Mandya, Chamarajanagar and Hassan — was held on June 8 and the counting of votes was taken up yesterday at Maharani's Women's Commerce and Management College, Valmiki Road junction, Vinayakanagar (Paduvarahalli).

Out of the 20,678 voters enrolled for South Teachers Constituency, 16,696 had exercised their franchise. Among them, 13 were NOTA and 819 were rejected, leaving 15,877 valid votes, following which the quota for victory was 7,933 votes.

After all the first preference votes were counted, Marithibbegowda secured 6,003 votes, followed by Lakshmana of the Congress with 5,514 votes and B. Niranjanmurthy of the BJP with 3,931 votes.

The six independents in the fray, fared poorly with A.H. Gopalkrishna bagging 7, D.K. Tulasappa 2, Dr. S.B.M. Prasanna 102, Dr. Mahadev 295, M.N. Ravishankar 4 and P.A. Sharath Raj getting 6 votes.

As no candidate secured the required number of votes, the counting of second and subsequent preference of votes was taken up, when B. Niranjanmurthy of the BJP was eliminated, thus leaving the fight only between Marithibbegowda and M. Lakshmana. After the counting of second preference votes, Marithibbegowda got 7,170 votes, while his only remaining rival Lakshmana got 6,805 votes.

As Marithibbegowda still failed to reach the quota mark of 7,933 votes, M. Lakshmana, who trailed him by 365 votes, was eliminated, leaving Marithibbegowda victorious, who ultimately bagged 11,022 votes after all the rounds of counting.

Soon as Marithibbegowda was declared the winner, JD(S) workers began to celebrate. MLC K.T. Srikantegowda, city JD(S) President K.T. Cheluvegowda, former Mayor R. Lingappa, Corporators K.V. Mallesh, SBM Manju and Shivanna were present.

UGC recognition for KSOU likely this year

Prof. Shivalingaiah KSOU VC

Mysuru, June 13 (RK&NNN)- The Karnataka State Open University (KSOU) is at last likely to get recognition for all its courses for the academic year 2018-19.

The University Grants Commission (UGC), in a letter dated June 6, has stated that it is likely to consider the application of KSOU regarding recognition of the courses starting from this academic year 2018-19. It may be recalled that even the High Court of Karnataka had ordered the UGC to grant recognition at the earliest to the KSOU in this academic year itself (2018-19).

KSOU Vice-Chancellor Prof. D.Shivalingaiah, speaking to Star of Mysore here this morning, said that a team from UGC is visiting the University and all the documents have been kept ready for them.

"We are asking for recognition to 32 courses we are offering including four undergraduate courses and the remaining courses in post graduation, after following all the UGC guidelines," he said.

A 16-member Joint Parliamentary Standing Committee had recently visited Mysuru and the issue was brought before the committee. "I had made a power point presentation to the Joint Committee where the UGC Joint Secretary was also present. He agreed to grant recognition in front of the Committee, headed by Chairman Dr. Satyanarayan Jatiyaji," he said.

In a letter to the Chairman of Parliamentary Standing Committee dated June 2, 2018, Prof. Shivalingaiah had stated that even though all in-house admissions were made in accordance with UGC norms, the UGC had issued a public notice dated 16.06.2015 informing the students not to get the admissions in KSOU since it is de-recognised with retrospective effect from the academic year 2013-2014.

"However, by the time UGC issued a public notice all in-house admissions for the year 2013-2014 and 2014-2015 were completed and the statistics for admission for the year 2013-14 was 49,675 and for 2014-15, 46,178 totalling 95,853," he had stated in the letter.

Prof. Shivalingaiah hoped that the three zero years (2015-16, 2016-17 and 2017-18), that KSOU faced would be thing of the past and from this academic year lakhs of students who are suffering will be benefited to pursue their higher education through distance mode again.

BJP wins South West Graduates and JD(S) wins South West Teachers Constituency

Manjunath

Bhojegowda

The counting of votes for South West Teachers and South West Graduates constituencies too were taken up at Maharani's College. These Constituencies comprises of Kodagu, Dakshina Kannada, Udupi, Shivamogga, Chikkamangaluru and parts of Davangere districts.

Ayanur Manjunath of BJP won from South West Graduates Constituency, defeating his nearest rival S.P. Dinesh by a huge margin of over 9,000 votes. This victory was special for the BJP, as the party emerged victorious after the first round of counting itself.

A total of 47,171 votes were polled in the Constituency and the quota for victory was set at 21,526 votes, after leaving invalid and NOTA votes.

Manjunath bagged 25,250 votes after the counting of first preference votes and he was declared the winner, leaving his nearest rival S.P. Dinesh of the Congress who bagged 16,157 votes, far behind. The JD(S) candidate Arun Kumar fared poorly coming a distant third with just 1,342 votes. The Constituency saw the highest numbers of invalid votes — 3,999.

In the South West Teachers Constituency, S.L. Bhojegowda of the JD(S) emerged victorious after defeating his nearest rival Capt. Ganesh Karnik of the BJP, who is a sitting MLC.

Bhojegowda maintained his lead from first round of counting itself. But as none of the candidates reached quota figure of 7,846 votes, the counting of second and subsequent preference of votes was taken up. Ultimately, after the counting of all the rounds were completed, Bhojegowda of the JD(S) who bagged a total of 8,647 votes was declared the winner.

BJP's Capt. Ganesh Karnik came second, while Manjunath Kumar of Congress, who got eliminated after the tenth round of counting, eventually came third.

With this loss, BJP's Ganesh Karnik's dreams of making it into a hat-trick into the Legislative Council was shattered.

The South West Teachers Constituency saw 16,479 votes cast. The total number of valid votes stood at 15,707 after 16 NOTA and 772 invalid votes were rejected.

Narendra Modiji, Amit Shahji and Mohan Bhagwatji will understand that India cannot be run by only these three people. India will be run by the people of the country," thus spake Rahul Gandhi while addressing an Other Backward Classes (OBC) Convention organised by his party, Congress, in Delhi recently.

As a senior citizen, having seen India run by only one person for decades, first by Rahul's paternal great-grandfather Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, his paternal grand-mother Indira Gandhi and his own father Rajiv Gandhi, I would rather prefer a triumvirate rule for India to avoid dynastic rule.

He further says that the Nation has become a slave of two-three leaders of the BJP and the RSS. Well, if it is so, I would say it is better and safe to serve two or three masters for then I would not be turned into a slave by any one individual which is the case in slavery.

He also expressed his happiness about the coming together of all the Opposition parties of the Nation to defeat the BJP in the 2019 general elections and said his Congress party too would be a party in this coalition. In the past we have seen what happened to the coalition or alliance governments where Congress was a partner. When everything looked good, Congress would pull the carpet from under the feet of the coalition partners and bring down the government led by the non-Congress partners.

Why, look at Karnataka now. Even after one month, the coalition government of Congress and JD(S), with a JD(S) Chief Minister, is not able to finalise the Ministry and the stalemate continues. According to a panel discussion of astrologers in Public TV last evening, this government will collapse in two-and-a-half-months, said one. Another said in October 2018, a few months before the Parliamentary elections in 2019. And the third one said there would be President's rule. The sum and substance of all these predictions is that this government will not last its five-year term. Well, if it does not, the blame will lie squarely at the door of the Congress.

As I remember, since 1947, I have never seen a Congress President screaming and shouting, as if competing with or imitating Narendra Modi, in public speeches — be it Nehru, Madan Mohan Malaviya, Indira Gandhi, K. Kamaraj, S. Nijalingappa, Sitaram Kesri and his own mother Sonia Gandhi — like the present President Rahul Gandhi. I reckon he would be more acceptable if he speaks like his father Rajiv Gandhi in a natural way. Seems an angry young President in a hurry to become the Prime Minister of India in 2019 under an Opposition alliance. Like Sitaram Kesri was an angry old man in a hurry to become the PM, but failed.

However, Rahul seems to have forgotten, or he was too young to remember, how his paternal grandmother Indira Gandhi mocked and made fun of this kind of alliance in the 1977 Parliamentary election when the Opposition had formed an alliance to defeat Indira Gandhi's Congress. She ridiculed the alliance as a 'strange animal' and jeered at the alliance as a 'khichdi' party. Of course, the 'khichdi' party with many alliance partners won an absolute majority. Morarji Desai of Congress (O) became the Prime Minister. Rahul Gandhi is hoping for such a victory to become the Prime Minister in 2019. Good luck.

This might be a pipe dream because 2019 is not 1977. Looking at the Nation's mood today, June 2018, I have a gut feeling that when the question is of electing a National leader in the 2019 Parliamentary election, India's intelligent voters would shun this proposed 'khichdi' party unlike in 1977.

Just as what happened to Congress President Sitaram Kesri (who dislodged H.D. Deve Gowda as Prime Minister) may happen to Rahul Gandhi in 2019. Worse is, he would be compromising the prestige and the status of a National political party, the Grand Old Party (GOP) of India, for the sake of elusive power. Well, Sir, Congress has ruled India long enough, let others also get a chance.

A wag tells me that in 1977, the 'khichdi' party won because of the Emergency with its autocratic oppressive rule. The compulsory sterilisation (vasectomy, nasbandi) and imprisonment of Opposition leaders and many innocents made the voters hate Congress. Nothing so hateful has happened under Modi's rule.

Congress got zero seats in UP, Bihar, Delhi and Punjab. Yet, Congress bagged 153 seats in a House of 543 seats — much more than the 44 seats Congress got in 2014 under Sonia Gandhi. The proposed 'khichdi' party for 2019 will blame BJP for the Demonetisation and GST mess. But, voters know in the long-run both will do good for the country. Hence, chances are that this 2019 'khichdi' party may not succeed.

Siddu credits Jayanagar victory to Congress' good work

Mysuru, June 13 (RKB&NNN)- Former Chief Minister Siddharamaiah crediting the Congress for the victory in the Jayanagar Assembly Constituency in Bengaluru, this morning, said that it was not because of coalition government in the State that Congress party emerged victorious but it was because of the good work done by his party and also because the winning candidate Sowmya Reddy was actively involved in the Constituency.

Former Chief Minister Siddharamaiah seen with MLA Tanveer Sait, MP R. Dhruvanarayan and others at a private hotel in city this morning.

In an informal chat with media persons at a private hotel in city this morning for about half-an-hour, Siddharamaiah who was in a nostalgic mood before attending an introspection meeting with the winners and losers of the party, said that the main purpose of the meeting was to discuss for the preparation of the forthcoming Lok Sabha elections and the strategy that needs to be adopted, as also why Congress fared badly in the District.

Then, going back in time he said, he would have been very happy if he had continued as a lecturer as he was a very popular teacher.

"Once upon a time, I was a very popular teacher. I taught for three years and the students used to enjoy my classes. When I look back, I think I was more suited for teaching than politics. Even now I would love to go back to teaching. But as I am old, as I will be turning 71 in August, it is not possible for me to teach," said Siddharamaiah.

He said that the introspection meeting was a closed door meeting and neither the media nor the leaders and party workers were allowed to participate.

Revealing an interesting tit bit, while he was in Badami attending a thanksgiving function, from where he managed to win, he said that former Minister Chimmanna Katti who had vacated his seat for him (Siddharamaiah) to contest told him that he does not look 71 but 21 and he could marry a second time.

"I was quite embarrassed when he told me this and I told him if the young girls hear this, what they will think of me," he said with a mischievous smile.

Asked about the farmers' loan waiver, he said that since H.D. Kumaraswamy was both the Chief Minister and Finance Minister now, he has to take the decision. "However, one cannot compare the present situation to the previous government as they are not related. But all the programmes of our government will be carried forward," he said.

To a question on what would be discussed at the Atmavalokana (introspection) meeting, Siddharamaiah quipped, "When there is no Atma where is Avalokana?' Former MLA Vasu recalled that the hotel where they were sitting was the place where Aziz Sait, father of Tanveer Sait was born. Siddharamaiah immediately reminisced about how the late Sait had asked him for a walking stick.

MLAs Dr. Yathindra, Tanveer Sait, Anil Chikkamadu, MP R. Dhruvanarayan, MLC Dharmasena, former MLAs M.K. Somashekar, Vasu, S.K. Manjunath, K. Venkatesh, D. Ravishankar, Kalale Keshavamurthy, District President Dr. B. J. Vijaykumar, City Congress President R. Murthy, AICC member Dr. Pushpa Amarnath and others were present.

"I know that by asking the MRC to shut operations and shift, I will be putting my hands into a beehive as there will be a backlash and controversies. I am ready to face it and the government will have to take a step that benefits a common man," Mahesh said.

Asked about the alternative land to MRC, Mahesh said that hundreds of acres of Government land were available beyond 25 kilometres of Mysuru city limits. "The MRC can easily be shifted there and it will be convenient and spacious for them to shift, instead of operating within city limits in a prime property.

It may be recalled here that as an MLA and before becoming the Minister, S.R. Mahesh had repeatedly urged the State Government in the past not to renew the licence of the MRC.

As the Chairman of the Audit Committee of the Karnataka Legislature, Mahesh had visited the MRC in July last year and had asked the MRC authorities to hand over the land back to PWD to develop a Bird Park and a Botanical Garden.

Mahesh, then an MLA, had directed the MRC to hand over the land to the Sri Chamarajendra Zoological Gardens, popular as Mysuru Zoo.

He had then stated that if the MRC land is surrendered back to the government, it will help the Zoo to extend area-wise and also develop the Botanical Garden.

Congress wins Jayanagar

Sowmya Reddy, daughter of former Home Minister R. Ramalinga Reddy of the Congress had polled 54,457 votes as against 51,568 votes secured by Prahalad.

The election to Jayanagar was countermanded during the May 12 Assembly elections following the demise of BJP candidate B.N. Vijayakumar. BJP in an attempt to gain sympathy vote had fielded his brother Prahalad despite some protest from local Corporators belonging to the BJP.

JD(S) nominee Kalegowda had retired from contesting in favour of the Congress candidate following the formation of the JD(S)-Congress coalition government in Karnataka.

With this win, the Congress strength has gone up to 79 in the Assembly.

Gauri Lankesh murder case

Suspected shooter held

Gauri Lankesh Wagmare

Bengaluru, June 13 (UNI)- The Special Investigation Team (SIT) probing the Journalist-activist Gauri Lankesh murder case has arrested a 26-year-old youth in connection with the murder.

The arrested has been identified as Parashuram Wagmare from Sindhagi in Vijayapura district of Karnataka.

He was produced before the 3rd Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate (ACMM) Court and the Judge has remanded him to 14 days Police custody for further interrogation. SIT, in a release yesterday, has said that his role in the conspiracy and other details will be revealed later as it would affect the investigation at this stage.

Gauri Lankesh was shot dead when she was opening the doors of her residence in Rajarajeshwari Nagar on Sept. 5 last year. Police have already arrested five people in connection with the murder. SIT has confirmed that the same gun was used in the murder of Research scholar and critic Prof. M.M. Kalburgi at his residence in 2016.

From Sindhagi, Wagmare alias Parashu, alias Kohli, alias Builder, worked in his uncle's utensils store. Sources said Wagmare has a criminal record in Karnataka and was one of six men associated with the radical right-wing Sri Rama Sena arrested for hoisting the Pakistan flag in Sindhagi town in 2012 in an attempt to foment communal trouble.

Wagmare was arrested at his home in Sindhagi after investigations in the aftermath of the arrest of four men linked to the radical right-wing group Sanathan Sanstha and its affiliate Hindu Janajagruti Samiti (HJS) on May 31.

Wagmare's name emerged from documents seized from the four suspects Amit Kale, 37, a key operative in a covert activities unit of the Santa Sanstha and a former convenor of the HJS in Pune, Amit Degwekar, 38, a resident of the Sanathan Sanstha Ashram in Ponda in Goa, Manohar Edave, 29, an alleged recruiter of radical youths from Vijayapura and Sujeet Kumar alias Praveen, 37, a former HJS activist from Udupi involved in underground activities in recent years.

Wagmare was identified under a code name in a diary found in Kale's possession, which helped Police locate the suspect, sources said. Wagmare was eventually detained by the SIT after he matched the height and weight profile of the man who shot Gauri provided by technical experts who analysed CCTV footage captured outside her home.

Wagmare stands at around five feet and is well-built like the suspect seen in the surveillance footage walking up to shoot Gauri Lankesh while she was opening the gate to her house on September 5, 2017, sources said.

Wagmare is alleged to have stayed at a house in Bengaluru that was allegedly provided by Sujeet Kumar for nearly three months in the run-up to the murder. A second house was also used as a base for a shorter duration, sources said. The discovery of one of these houses also provided the SIT with key information that led to the identification of Wagmare as a prime suspect in the plot to kill Gauri Lankesh.

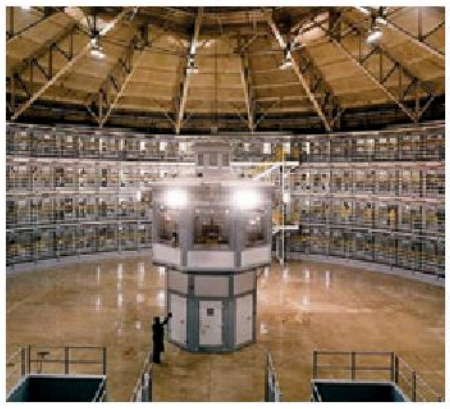
WORD OF THE DAY

Panoptic

Pronunciation: ˌpa-ˈnäp-tik
Meaning: Showing or seeing the whole at one view.



Origin: The establishment of panoptic in the English language can be attributed to two inventions known as panopticons. The more well-known panopticon was conceived by the English philosopher Jeremy Bentham in 1787. Bentham's panopticon was a circular prison with cells arranged around a central tower from which guards could see the inmates at all times. The other panopticon, also created in the 18th century, was a device containing pictures of attractions, such as European capitals, that people viewed through an opening. Considering the views that both inventions gave, it is not hard to see why panoptic (a word derived from Greek panoptēs, meaning "all-seeing") was being used by the early 19th century.

THE ODD WORD

Paludal

Living or occurring in a marshy habitat.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Straight from the horse's mouth

Meaning: From the highest authority.

Origin: In horse racing circles tips on which horse is a likely winner circulate amongst punters. The most trusted authorities are considered to be those in closest touch with the recent form of the horse, that is, stable lads, trainers etc. The notional 'from the horse's mouth' is supposed to indicate one step better than even that inner circle, that is, the horse itself.

It is a 20th century phrase. The earliest printed version one can find of it is from the USA and clearly indicates the horse-racing context - in the Syracuse Herald, May 1913:

"I got a tip yesterday, and if it wasn't straight from the horse's mouth it was jolly well the next thing to it."
